Old Bachelor's Idea of Celebrating His Matrimonial Venture.

Macon, Mo., Oct. 16 .- John Massengele. wealthy farmer and stock raiser of Macon County, and Mrs. Paries Massengale of Kentucky were married to-day at Devier by the Reverend F. Theodore Mayer. The ceremony was performed while the paries were seated in their bugsy in front of the little country store that is run by the minister. For twenty-six years Mr. Massengale was an extensive ranch owner in Wyoning and South Dakota. His bride was the widow of his cousin. She is 41 years old and he is 50.

To properly celebrate his first mutrimonial venture, Mr. Massengale authorized his attorney in Macon to charter the ten liquid dispensaries here for the day and let everything go across the bar to everybedy that desired to drink or smoke to the health and prosperity of the bridegroom. The establishments referred to did the best business of their existence, and the proprietors reluctantly closed doors at H p. m. in deference to the town ordinance. PERPETUAL MOTION SECURED THROUGH FORCE OF GRAVITY?

J. D. GRIMES AND HIS PERPETUAL-MOTION MACHINE.

J. D. Grimes, an East St. Louis barber, and wond on the outer sige of which Mr. has invented a machine which, although simply an experiment, apparently, has proven that perpetual motion may be secured.

understand the principle of its construc-tion, but Grimes has been at work on it tion, but Grimes has been at work on it side of the center of the turntable suspend for the last twelve years, perfecting it only the lever and prevents the wheel from month and a half ago, since which time it has run continuously except when he stopped it to show the machine to interested persons. The idea which has sent many men to the madhouse has, with Mr. Grimes, he is sure, become an accomplished of the experimenters for perpetual motion have sought to harness, is used by Mr. Grimes, and he also saddles an ingenious ontrivance of shifting weight to bring his machine over the dead level which has insurmountable obstacle with inventors of perpetual motion.

The working model is on exhibition at Phillip Hulliung's burber shop at No. 302 Collinsville avenue, East St. Louis, where Mr. Grimes is employed as a barber. It has attracted much attention, and Mr. Grimes is kept busy in his spare moments explaining it to the curious. The mathine consists of a circular base table. To one side is attached a movable lever on which is attached a small which A spring which is attached to the other touching the lower part of the depression in the wheel race. Opposite the lever and the wheel on the outer edge of the turntable is arranged a weight exactly balancing the apparatus on the other side. Th entire machine is then titted slightly and it starts off on its own accord and does not stop until outside influences intervene.

As explained by Mr. Grim's, the spring which holds the lever and the little wher takes up just enough of the weight on the side of the turntable to allow the weight on the level, after which the spring again c mes into use and the which the spring again c mes into use and the wheel has received permits the little wheel to follow accound the wheel rare, and the chire operation is repeated. The machine makes thirty revolutions a minute, but Mr. Grimes believes that it is possible for it to make a hundred, or even more with sicely adjusted bearings.

The principal feature in the machine is the absence of complicated machinery, there being only one wheel, and a turntable. Mr. Grimes has applied for a parent of his machine.

COUNCILMEN BEFORE GRAND JURY. Must Tell What They Know About Gumbling Mentioned in Resolution. Gambling Mentioned in Resolution.

Members of the East St. Louis City Council yesterday appeared before the St. Clair County Grand Jury in answer to subpoduas commanding them to tell that body what they knew about sambling in East St. Louis and their reason for passing the anti-gambling resolution Monday afternoon.

It was reported in Believille yesterday that the Grand Jury had determined to probe the question of sambling in East St. Louis as far as possible, and to this and had summoned a number of men who are prominent in East St. Louis both in business and the professions. It is not expected that indictments will be returned until the Grand Jury has made a searching investigation. In the meantime East St. Louis is experiencing a new sensation—that of being a moral town to far as gambling is concerned.

LARGE NAVY WANTED BY SECRETARY MOODY

Plea Is Made by Cabinet Member in Political Speech at East St. Louis.

TO ENFORCE MONROE DOCTRINE

Preservation of Peace Can Best Be Secured by Building More Battleships Like the Illinois, He Says.

W. R. Moody, Secretary of the United States Navy Just night made a plea for a larger navy, not for wer, he explained, but because there was no more certain way to preserve peace than to be ready for war.

The meeting was held in the auditorium of the East St. Louis City Hall, and the spacious half was filled with auditors many of whom were ladies. At the conclu made by Governor Richard Yates of Illinois, who spoke of the strength and resources of the State and touched upon the question of convict labor.

Secretary Moody was introduced by ormer Congressman William A. Rodenberg of East St. Louis, who was chairman of the aceting. Prominent Republicans of East St. Louis accupied chairs on the platform. Mr. Moody opened his talk by reviewing the conditions and the causes which h to the war with Spain. He told of the hero sm of the soldiers and saliers in the war and of the presperous condition of the islands at the present time.

With reference to the laws which had been made for the Philippine Islands, Mr. Moody said that not a better corporation taw existed in any one of the States than is the Philippine bill. He said that as yet the on had not been given complete in dependence, but that they would be given capable of appreciating, as soon as they show the United States that they are able probably be done as soon as the census of the islands is taken.

Mr. Moody defended the soldiers in the Philippines from the stories of the crucities which they were alleged to have practiced on their enemies. Mr. Moody said that while it was true that there were isolated cases of crucity, and that he did not justify them, he had no patience with men who are happlest when they are telling and exaggerating these exceptional stories about the poke of the present Philippine policy. He said that the Government had to deal now with the duties of the present, and that the future would take care of itself. The coun try's duty was to train the Dhabitants o the Philippine Islands to govern and edu cate themselves. Whether in the end the Philippines will remain the property of this country or be independent is a problem of the future.

NAVY AND ITS NEEDS. Speaking of the navy and its needs, Mr. Moody said that the battleship Illinois was the greatest fighting ship in the mavy, and that he wanted the support of the people of the country for the enlargement of the navy with ships that can fight of the class of the Illinois

Mr. Moody said that he wanted a strong Navy to make the Monroe Doctrine strict ly observed by the nations of the world. He said that he had very recently constituted a squadron, which has been sent to the Caribbean Sea-not to go in quest of land, but to prevent any other nation from touching a square inch of this land. enclusion. "We want peace, but there is on more certain way to obtain peace than to be ready instantly for war."

Quilts Thrown About Her by Mrs. Dustn and Mrs. Rircher Extinguish Fire.

Mrs. Anna Dusin and Mrs. Robert Birebe of No. 2316 North Broadway, at the risk of being budly burned, went to the rescue of their neighbor, Mrs. Elizabeth Yaeger, of No. 3314 North Fourteenth street, who was enveloped in flames caused by the expication of a gasoline stove.

Mrs. Yaeger, who is 55 years old was preparing to cook the evening meal and started to fill the gasoline stove, fatting to extinguish the flame as she did so. The explosion threw the burning fluid into her face and ignited her dress. Screaming with fright and pain, Mrs.

Yaeger ran into the back yard. Her cries attracted Mrs. Dusin and Mrs. Bircher, who saw from a window in their kitchen Mrs. Yasgor running around in a circle in her yard making frantic efforts to put out the fire, which, by this time, was crisping the fich of her arms and body. Scatching comforts from a bed both Mrs. Dusin and Mrs. Bircher can into the pard and threw them around Mrs. Yaeger. Thomas Bresian of No. E.S North Broadway went to the aid of the two rescuers and assisted them in extinguishing the flames. Mrs. Yaeger was conveyed to the Mulianphy Hospital, where Dector La Barge stated that her burns are serious and does not believe she will recover.

The flames spread to the furniture in the kitchen and caused a damage estimated at 100. The Fire Department was summoned and easily extinguished the fire. The building is owned by Mrs. Bertha Herder of No.
